Outdoor Activities at Stone Mountain Park

Georgia's Most Visited Attraction

These experiences give participants the opportunity to enjoy fresh air and sunshine while growing closer to each other. The change of scenery can give the group a much needed mood and energy boost. These experiences are also known as "outdoor team building games", "outdoor team building events", and "outdoor group activities".

Photo Challenge

Photo challenges are outdoor scavenger hunts where participants photograph specific objects. To play this game, split the group into teams, give each team a list of clues, and set a time limit to snap as many photos as possible. We recommend a timeline, like 60 minutes.

Participants can up send the photos to our team to upload to a community webpage made just for you so that all members of the group can review photos together.

Geocaching

Geocaching is a scavenger hunt where you hunt for buried treasure. First, participants download a geocaching app.

Then, players follow the coordinates to find loot hidden nearby. Instead of keeping the objects, players return the item to the container and rehide the cache for others to find.

Your group can split up into teams and hide objects for colleagues to find, or can hunt for existing treasure. If your team creates a cache, then you can regularly monitor the log to keep track of how many strangers find the treasure, too.

Outdoor Scavenger Hunt

Scavenger hunts are one of the most popular outdoor team building activities. To do a hunt, first create a list of clues using existing landmarks or ones you can place. Ideally the distance between clues is far enough apart that teammates can dash between locations, but not so far that you will tire everyone out!

Give the group a set amount of time to complete the challenge, such as 60 or 90 minutes. Then, count up the number of clues each team finds and award a winner.

Fun Runs

Fun runs are themed races that often include costumes and props. Example themes include zombie runs, where actors are dressed up as the undead chase runners, or color runs, where racers wearing white clothes are pelted with colored powder at different points.

Other fun runs simply ask participants to dress in costumes, such as Disney characters, superheroes, or animals..

Playground Game Tournament

Playground tournaments bring out your teams competitive spirit and inner children. These challenges consist of a series of common recess games.

- Kickball
- Dodgeball
- Tag / Freeze Tag
- Monkey Bar Races
- Red Rover
- Red Light, Green Light
- Tetherball
- Duck, Duck, Goose
- Simon Says

Hopscotch

Simply divide the group into team, then play games and keep score. You can either host the tournament over the course of a single afternoon, or spread the games out throughout the week by giving your participants a shore "recess" each day.

Food Truck Fair

Food Truck Fairs are a fun way to enjoy a meal with your team. First, book a few local food trucks. For best results, select a variety of different cuisines, such as pizza, tacos, donuts, burgers, and vegetarian food.

Then, schedule a time of the day when coworkers can head outside, order some grub, and mingle. You can use a ticket system where each team member receives a number of tickets to exchange for food items.

Outdoor Concerts

You and your team can meetup at a local concert and rock out together. You can host your own company concert and either hire performers or book bands made up of employees to play.

Tug-of-War

To host a field day, split your group into teams and keep a running score of the winners of each game.

At the end of the event, name winners and award prizes like medals and gift cards to the top teams.

Field Days

Outdoor team building events for large groups, mid size, and small groups. These events consist of a series of physical challenges that take place on a sports field.

- Outdoor Track & Field Day
- Frisbee Golf
- Three-Legged Race
- Egg-and-Spoon Race
- Sack Race
- Crab Soccer
- Wheelbarrow Race
- Keep-It-Up
- Obstacle Courses

Buddy Strolls

Buddy strolls are one of the best outdoor team building activities for small groups. Simply match up teammates in groups of two or three people, then encourage these mini-teams to schedule a stroll.

Teammates should chat about non-work topics during the stroll, and you can give walking buddies lists of icebreaker prompts or get to know you questions to spark conversations.

Hiking

Hiking is an easy team building activity you can do outdoors. You and your team can hit the trail, check out the wildlife, and bond while taking in amazing views.

Simply pick a path, bring plenty of water and snacks, and set out together into the wilderness. Feel free to stop at scenic overlooks to take team photos.

Volleyball

Volleyball is one of the best outdoor team building sports. A net and a volleyball or beach ball are the only supplies needed to play this game.

You can set up your match in a parking lot field, or our sanded field. The main rule is not to let the ball hit the ground or go out of bounds. Winning a game of volleyball takes significant teamwork.

Cornhole

Cornhole is a popular picnic game that is great for team building outdoors. The goal of the game is to throw a hacky sack into the hole on a board.

To play cornhole, all you need is a wooden board with a hole and a couple of sacks. Simply split up the group into teams and keep score of how many points each team gets.

Capture the Flag

Capture the flag is a team strategy game you play outdoors. Each team receives a flag to hide from other teams. The object of the game is to capture other teams' flags without losing your own flag.

Typically the game has two teams, however, you can play a multi-team format as well.

Minute To Win It: Outdoor Edition

Minute To Win It games are quick challenges that participants complete within the minute. These games are fun to play outdoors, especially since the challenges can get messy or require space.

- Transfer beads from one bowl to another using only chopsticks
- Build a tower by stacking cups
- Blow up a balloon and use the air to knock over plastic cups
- Fill a tissue box with ping pong balls, strap it to your waist, and shake out as many balls as possible
- Transfer ping pong balls from one cup to another using nothing but a straw

The Human Knot

The Human Knot is a classic team building game that works well in outdoor settings. To do the exercise, ask participants to stand in a circle, then grab the hands of two different team members on the opposite side of the circle..

Next participants must untangle themselves without breaking their grip. The exercise is over when the group becomes a ring with no hands remaining in the center.

Flag Football

Flag football is a low-impact alternative to traditional tackle football. Instead of knocking into each other, players try to grab colored streamers from the opponent's belt. Stealing an opposing team member's flag is equivalent to a tackle.

Typically, each team has five players, however, you could play with more or less, too. Otherwise, gameplay is similar to regular football.
